Her guests were Miss Margaret Neely, Miss Mildred Beaver, Miss Grace Heller, Miss Florence Baria, Miss Anna Roshon, Miss Marian List, Miss Minerva Webster and Miss Esther Jolly.

DANCES FOR YOUNGER SET

Mrs. Wurts' Class Will Hold First Meeting Tonight—Mr. and Mrs. Pool Entertain.

The first meeting of the dancing class which is chaperoned by Mrs. Charles Stewart Wurts will be held this evening at 8:30 o'clock at Asher's, 233 and Walnut streets. The decorations will be very simple; a few palms and the shaded lights will throw a pretty glow upon the dancers. Mrs. Wurts has conceived the idea of forming several committees of the younger men to assist her in conducting the class. They lead the cotillon, introduce the new members and make themselves generally useful and indispensable. The committee for the first six meetings includes Clayton McElroy, Jr., Tristram Coffin Colket, Ed. Ernest C. Savage, Louis Robinson, Wistar Morris and Alfred Lewis. The class will meet every alternate Saturday during the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Herbert Pool, of Ardmore, will give a delightful informal dance at the Merion Cricket Club in honor of their daughter, Miss Lois Alexander Pool, who will be one of next year's debutantes.

The large rooms of the clubhouse will be decorated with palms and numerous gorgeous chrysanthemums of many and varied hues, while because of Friday, the 13th, a novel and pretty feature of the decorations will be a large brass shoe formed of apricot and maroon colored chrysanthemums, which will festoon the balcony rail and shower good luck upon all the guests.

Miss Pool will wear a becoming frock of upright chiffon, fashioned in a simple girlish style without any definite waist line, and with bands of mauve velvet as the only trimming.

Mrs. Pool and her daughter will be assisted in receiving by Mrs. William E. Somers, Jr., Mrs. J. Howard Brown and Mrs. Pool's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Sydney Alexander Pool, of Palmerston, Pa. About 180 guests will be present, and among them a large number of this and next season's debutantes from along the Main Line and from town.

A novel innovation which the older people particularly will enjoy will be the opening of the card rooms during the dance so that, while the young people delight in dancing the time away, their elders may wander in for a game of cards.

Among those who will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Pool over the dance are Miss Mary Little, of Folcroft, Pa.; Miss Gertrude Shewell, of Hiverton, N. J.; Miss Isabel Sommers, of Abington, Pa.; Miss Elizabeth Steward, of Germantown; James Little, of Folcroft, Pa.; Howard Ogden Smith, of Rochester, N. Y.; Sydney Trewin, of Rochelle, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Alexander Pool, of Palmerston, Pa.

DEBUTANTE AFFAIRS

Miss Tyson and Miss Scull Will be Presented at a Tea and Dinner Dance.

Today's entertainment for the debutantes will consist in a luncheon, tea and dinner dance. The luncheon will be given for Miss Mary Ballard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Ames Ballard, of St. Martins, by Mrs. George Dillwyn Farrah at her home, 313 South 10th street. Chrysanthemums will be used in the decorations.

Dr. and Mrs. T. Mellor Tyson will give a large tea with dancing at their home, 1506 Spruce street. The whole lower floor of the house will be thrown open to the guests and will be handsomely decorated with tall sprigged palms, farleyance and cybodium ferns. With this background many beautiful bouquets, baskets and little Dresden china flower pieces made up of rosebuds, violets and tiny blues, are banked about the room.

Miss Tyson will wear a lovely frock of satin trimmed with lace, which is made with a touch of color. Dr. James Tyson, Miss Tyson's grandfather, will be present. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Warrington and Miss Grace C. Carhart will also receive.

Among the debutantes who will receive with Miss Tyson will be Miss Hilda Tunis, Miss Katherine Diamant, Miss Eleanor Bispham, Miss Mary Stewart Wurts, Miss Margaret Fitter, Miss Marjorie Morris, Miss Mary Brown Warburton, Miss Marie Louise Wanamaker, Miss Arlean Miller, Miss Isabel Milne Rodgers, Miss Elinor Judd Bean, Miss Marlan Grant, Miss Hope McElchall, Miss Caroline Ives Drinton, Miss Edith R. Hillson, Miss Katharine Z. Ogden, Miss Dorothea Obersteuffer, Miss Emma Ashton Dorr, Miss Margaret H. Burton, Miss Helena Robinson, Miss Anna Mary Walthour, Miss Kate Furness Jayne.

In the evening Mr. and Mrs. William Ellis Scull will introduce their charming daughter, Miss Margaret Ellis Scull, at a dinner dance at the beautiful home, Leighton place, in Overbrook. The large hall, drawing room and library will be arranged with small tables, which will be decorated with different flowers.

WILMINGTON

Miss Edna E. Carpenter, one of Wilmington's best known young pianists, and Jacob W. Graybell, of Quarryville, Pa., were married at noon Thursday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. Carpenter, 903 Van Buren street. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Charles A. Hill, D. D., pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Carlsfeld, Md., formerly of this city. The bride and groom will spend their honeymoon in Washington, D. C., and other points south, and after January 1 they will be at home at Quarryville, Pa.

The Wilmington Assemblies, the most conspicuous social events of the season in this city, will be held the second Friday night of December and January in the New Century Club, and they will be managed by the same committee that has acted for several years—Mrs. Henry B. Thompson, Miss Amy E. duPont, Mrs. A. Felix duPont and Harry C. Haskell.

One of the interesting debutante affairs will be that of Miss Marjorie Fyle, youngest daughter of Mrs. Wilbur Pyle. She will be introduced at a debutante dinner to be given by her sister, Mrs. Eugene duPont, Jr., at the Country Club the night before the Bachelor's ball. Another debutante function of particular interest will be the tea to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Thomas for their daughter, Miss Jeannette Thomas, on Tuesday, November 17.

CHESTER AND VICINITY
Mrs. E. P. Roberts has returned to her home at Norwood, after a week's visit to friends at Elizabeth, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mills, of Wilmington, Del., were the recent guests of Mrs. Elizabeth Mills, at Upland.

FLASHES FROM "STARS"

Edward S. Curtis, authority on the North American Indian, has entered the motion picture field and will release soon a six-part film play entitled, "In the Land of the Head Hunter." Mr. Curtis is the author of "The North American Indian," a series of volumes containing many photographs, which was compiled under the patronage of the late J. Pierpont Morgan.

Maude Adams is enjoying one of the most profitable tours of her career. To the main offering of the bill, "The Legend of Leonora," Miss Adams has added Barrie's playlet, "The Ladies' Shakespeare." An idea of the nature of the little play may be gleaned from the author's description, "Being one woman's reading of a notorious work, edited by J. M. Barrie."

The Little Theatre Company is planning a series of out-of-town performances to be given on the dates when the French Players appear at the Little Theatre.

Five companies are presenting "A Pair of Sixes," the current attraction at the Adelphi. The Chicago company, headed by Frank McIntyre and May Vokes, is entering its fourth month at the Cort Theatre, Chicago.

Miss Saxon Morland, who plays Lucy in "The Rivals," has had an odd and contradictory career as regards her nationality. Having studied in Paris for the stage, she naturally spoke French exceptionally well when she began her work, and was mistaken for a French girl. Later she scored success in "The Cat and the Cherub," and to her amusement found that it was generally supposed that she was of Chinese birth, a mistake reiterated later when she scored such a triumph in "The Yellow Jacket." In reality she is an English girl, but, as she says, has become an American, and counts this as her home.

One of the scenes in "A Perfect Lady," in which Rose Stahl is appearing at the Hudson Theatre, New York, depicts leading citizens of a small community in Kansas succumbing to the strains of a ractime tune and indulging in a turkey trot. Irving Berlin composed a new "rictime melody for this purpose, and presented it to Miss Stahl. It will be used regularly at performances hereafter.

Frederick Truesdale, who gives a finished performance of the villain, making his career uniformly black, in "On Trial," was born in Montclair, N. J. After his graduation from Yale University he joined Daly's repertoire company, playing young men and character parts in Shakespeare, remaining with the company for three years. Then he was seen as "Trip in 'The School for Scandal.'" After that he was in comic opera, playing the comedian and even dancing in the ballet in "The Geisha," "The Circus Girl" and "La Poupée." At the close of his comic opera runs he toured England with William H. Crane, then was seen in "Ben Hur," and later succeeded Bruce MacRae as Doctor Watson in "Sherlock Holmes." He was leading man to Lily Langtry, and later appeared in "The College Widow," "The Three of Us" and "Maggie Pepper."

THEATRICAL BAUDEKER

ADELPHI—"A Pair of Sixes," farce by Edward Peple. Two business partners about a red hand, the winner to retain the business, the loser to become his body-servant for a year. Maude Eburne hilariously funny as a slavey.

BROAD—"The Song of Songs," new play by Edward Sheldon. An episodic adaptation of Hermann Sudermann's novel detailing a girl's quest of love, in which Irene Fenwick proves herself a capably great actress.

FORREST—"Sari," charming operetta, with Miss Hajo and Irene Powlowska. Miss Hajo, as Sari, a Hungarian girl, transported to Paris, is infinitely, coolly funny—and just captivating. Miss Powlowska sings operatically and charmingly.

GARRICK—"The Debutante," new musical comedy, with book by H. B. and H. R. Smith and music by Victor Herbert. A little plot, enlivened by bits of insinuating music, with Hazel Dawn as romesque as ever.

KEITH'S—Celebration of the 12th anniversary of this popular vaudeville house, with Jesse L. Lasky's tabloid musical comedy, "The Society Bunk," heading the bill.

LITTLE THEATRE—Excellent revival of "The Rivals" in original form as written by Sheridan, admirably acted.

LYRIC—"The Story of the Rosary." Elaborately staged melodrama, which will weary some in the first act and thrill others to the last, appreciation being a matter of taste.

WALNUT—"Within the Law." Katharine Tower convincingly portrays Mary Turner, who is unjustly sentenced to prison, but finally triumphs.

of character comedy in "The High Cost of Loving," at the Republic Theatre, New York, is the playing of Noel Burnham by Ernest Lambert, an Irishman, born in County Meath, and educated in England at Eton and Cambridge. As a young man he did not have to work. Consequently, he did nothing until a friend suggested, half in fun, that he try to go on the stage. He succeeded in securing an engagement with the "Florodora" company in London, playing a juvenile role. Then he played in "The Girl From Kay's" in London for a year, later coming to New York to continue in the part, that of Fitzthistle. At the end of the run of "The Girl From Kay's" he joined the Weber & Fields forces at their Music Hall, appearing in "Higgledy Piggledy" and "The Man About Town," in which he played the English Duke. After that he was seen as Don Adolfo in "Havana," in which he is still remembered for his capital rendering of the "Hello People" song, and followed this with an engagement in the English Gaiety piece, "Our Miss Gibbs."

Ann Swinburne will appear in a comic opera in January written by Henry Blossom, with music by Victor Herbert, who also composed the melodies of "The Madcap Duchess," in which Miss Swinburne was seen last year.

A prize of $10,000, offered by the Los Angeles Music Teachers' Association for the best American opera, has been awarded to Prof. Horatio W. Parker, of Yale University. The work is entitled "Fairland," and the libretto is by Brian Hooker, who collaborated with Professor Parker in the opera "Mona."

The opera, which was selected from fifty-six submitted by musicians and authors in all parts of the United States, is a pagant, and will be produced July 1, 1915, by the American Opera Association, of Los Angeles.

Selwyn & Co. have just signed contracts for the Spanish rights to Margaret Mayo's "Baby Mine" and "Twin Beds." As soon as translations have been completed both of these plays will be produced in Madrid.

Jack Squires, with the operetta "Earl," was a newspaper man and magazine writer before he went on the stage
